Finance

Saturday, the carpet will be replaced in the utility/finance offices at City Hall, as we continue to make needed improvements to the building. This work will result in the offices being closed a portion of Monday morning as desks and file cabinets are put back in place. Special thanks to our public works crews who have been moving quite a bit of furniture lately prepping for the carpet and getting our new Assistant City Manager's Office together for his start next week.

Public Works

ODNR and Prus construction met this week at city hall to discuss their progress on the replacement of the O'Bannon Creek Bridge along the Little Miami Scenic Bike Trail. Substantial progress has been made, particularly on the north side of the bridge, where the installation of the concrete approach and wooden rails have been completed, along with a significant amount of the grade work including hydroseeding. On the south side, preparations are underway for pouring the approach to the bridge. With anticipation building for the scheduled May 24th dedication, this project remains firmly on track to finish on time.

Progress on the East Loveland Avenue Bridge Replacement project continues to advance as significant milestones are achieved. The contractor has installed the new bridge footers, marking a crucial phase in the project's development. Furthermore, the scheduled delivery and installation of the box culvert for the new bridge is set for today. Concurrently, the Metropolitan Sewer District (MSD) maintains steady progress with the installation of the new sanitary sewer line.
